off plan villa design - this is what they say and it is all true!

We feel that we are unique in offering a completely tailor-made villa design service which begins with land selection, then house design and finally materials selection. Absolutely everything in the house is chosen from all the options available on the market. For example we don't offer a choice from 3 different floor tiles, or even 10. We offer a choice from thousands.

Real choice means that every single detail of the house is chosen by the client, from the positioning of electric plugs to the type of stonework around the windows. As we have many years experience in managing this process, we are at your disposal for advice so invariably designing a house with us is an enjoyable, once in a lifetime experience. Quality is our top priority in construction so we constantly aim to have the highest specification on the market...by far

Please email us for more information about these exciting projects.
